HOSTILE ENVIRONMENT AWARENESS TRAINING (HEAT)

20 – 25 October 2019

Gotenica Police Training Centre, Slovenia

AIM

Hostile Environment Awareness Training (HEAT) is an intensive four days course aiming to train professionals to deal effectively with risks-associated and emergency/critical situations while deployed in hostile environments abroad.

The training is expected to align participants' understanding of the minimum required behavioural field requirements when confronted as an individual or a team member staff of an international field operation whatever his/her professional background could be.

The course is designed to:

- improve participants' knowledge about multiple threats present in hostile field environments and to learn how to deal with them in an effective manner;
- rehearse and practice safety and security procedures accordingly with the specific threat;
- trigger individual skill dealing with different stressful situations;
- trigger group dynamics dealing with multiple stressful situations.

TARGET GROUP

Professionals working or are aiming to work with national or international organisations (e.g. EU, UN, OSCE), international non-governmental organisations, governments, the academic or private sector who:

- want to prepare to work in conflict areas and hostile environments.
- want to serve as multipliers in their own countries, organisations, communities, passing on the knowledge and skills obtained in the course.

TRAINING DATE and LOCATION

Training will be held between 20 and 25 October 2019 at the Police Training Centre Gotenica, located in the south-eastern part of Slovenia, 60 km from Ljubljana Airport. It is a training village that is able to host 150 people with all needed training facilities as well as full board accommodation for all participants.

TRAINING METHODOLOGY

Training is composed of five modules, each focusing on an important aspect of mission life in hostile environment. Activities include lectures, guided discussions, role plays, simulations and a complex field training exercise. Trainees will be talking about deployment in hostile environment (threat awareness, management of various threats, etc.), medical help, orientation, communications and off-road vehicles driving. Additionally, two modules will be dedicated to practicing newly gained skills and will intentionally expose trainees to dangerous situations.

REGISTRATION

All participants need to have a valid driving license in order to drive with 4x4 vehicles. Please send your application to nina.cepon@cep.si. The selection of participants will be based upon applicant backgrounds, experience, suitability, gender balance and nationality.

The decision on which applications are accepted remains solely with the organizers.

Deadline for applications is Friday, 11th October 2019.
